PLANS STATION AS 'CREDIT TO COMMUNITY'

Publisher Cites Service Record of Newspaper in Asking License.

The Mansfield Journal company will operate a radio station "that will be a credit to the community," if its application for an FM permit is granted, S. A. Horvitz, publisher of the News-Journal and vice-president and secretary of the applicant firm, said today in testifying at a hearing on the permit request at the American Legion auditorium.

"The station will have no editorial policy. It will present facts and let the people draw their own conclusions," Horvitz said. "It will be operated as a separate organization from the News-Journal."

Horvitz was the first witness called before Examiner Jack Blume of the Federal Communications Commission in the hearing of the Journal company's application.

Cooperate on News.

The news-gathering facilities of the News-Journal will be available to the new FM station, but the advertising staffs will be in competition, Horvitz said.

Horvitz cited the public service record of the News-Journal in backing community projects. He pointed out that the News-Journal in a campaign during the past nine months was instrumental in obtaining lower domestic electric rates for the city and in eliminating the Mansfield street lighting rates.

He said an earlier campaign by

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FILED

Navy Vet Pleads Innocent in Soldier's Death.

A charge of second degree, or involuntary, manslaughter in the traffic death of Pfc. Walter R. Messer yesterday was filed this morning against 20-year-old Richard Geib, Cook road.

Geib, a navy veteran, pleaded not guilty in municipal court, waived examination and was bound to the grand jury under $1,000 bond. Bond was supplied by his parents and Geib was freed.

Geib was the driver of an auto which overturned on Cook road early yesterday morning. Messer and another passenger, Paul C. Madden, 288 Sturges avenue, were thrown out of the vehicle, Messer receiving a fatal skull fracture.

Investigation by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz showed that Geib and Madden had visited a North Main street cafe where they had a number of alcoholic drinks before they drove away to return Geib to his home.

Geib told officers he was so dazed by the crash of the auto which turned end-over-end that he could not remember events between the crash and the time deputies took him into custody at his home later in the morning.

Funeral services for Messer will be held at the Wappner funeral home in charge of McVey Post, American Legion, Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Community Fund Quiz

QUESTION— Why should I give to the Community Fund?

ANSWER — Because in giving you not only help your community but yourself. You help to maintain the institutions that make your town a better place for you to live. "Everybody Benefits—" is literally true. And it is pretty generally true that "Everybody Gives" for there are very few families in the community in which not one member contributes. You can't be an isolationist in your community and be happy. There are 12,000 families in the city. Last year there were 16,000 gifts to the Community Fund.

1,000 Cry At Grave Of Bride

NEW YORK — (UP) — A chill breeze rustled through St. Mary's cemetery today, scattering the rain-loosened petals from a crumbling heart of orchids and 300 red roses that were the last gift of Johnny Mastantuono to his bride who died a few feet from the altar.

Angela Rose de Fabrizio, 21, was buried in her wedding gown while 1,000 wept.

"Death," Mastantuono said, "seems to follow me."

Mastantuono, 21, sat in his room, still undecided what to do with the houseful of furniture he had bought for his schooldays' sweetheart who died of a heart attack Sunday when the train of her wedding gown tangled about her feet. His eyes were dry. There were no tears left.

* * *

DEATH TRAILS YOUNG LOVER

Her flower-covered grave was only a few feet from those of the three others closest to Mastantuono's heart, all of whom died within the last two years.

On March 21, 1945, Mastantuono's mother, Mario, died. The next day death took his grief-stricken, ailing sister, Antoinette. His father, Lewis, died last April 20.

"I have no blood relative left except my brother, Michael," Mastantuono said. "I wanted so many things."

Six hundred persons crowded into St. Joachim's for the funeral yesterday. Another hundred stood in the rain outside. The Rev. Francis Flanagan conducted the services at St. Joachim's because the bride's father, Louis de Fabrizio, could not stand to return to the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel where Angela died in his arms as he sought to untangle her train.

The crowd was twice as large at the cemetery. The sobbing sometimes drowned out the words at the grave. Mastantuono stood with the bride's family, and helped support her father and mother, both near collapse.

News Room Now Located On 2nd Floor

Members of the news staff of the News-Journal came to work today in modern, new quarters.

Larger and more convenient than the third-floor news room that has been used for years, the new news room is on the second floor of the News-Journal building and thus is much more conveniently located for persons wishing to bring news items to the paper.

Editor George Kochenderfer has been installed in a newly-furnished office at the front of the news room. Just inside the door will be found the society department with reporters and the sports department situated to the rear of the spacious quarters.

'Too Much Texas' At Cattle Show

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Jersey cattle fanciers from 26 states and Canada sadly proclaimed today that there was "to much of Texas" at the All-American Jersey show in Columbus.

The Lone Star state walked off with most of the show honors including the state herd championship, the junior bull championship and five other class tops.

Catholic Archbishop Gets Prison Sentence

ZAGREB—(UP)—Archbishop Aloysius Stepinac, spiritual leader of 2,000,000 Croatian Catholics, was convicted as a collaborationist today by the supreme court of Croatia and sentenced to 16 years' imprisonment at forced labor.

Stepinac was convicted specifically of aiding the pro-Nazi Ustachi movement in Yugoslavia in an effort to "secure foreign intervention" to save the Nazi-sponsored "independent state of Croatia."

Erik Lisak, a Ustachi colonel, was sentenced to death by hanging for plotting against the regime of Marshal Tito. Pavle Gulin, a Ustachi messenger, was sentenced to be shot.

9 Priests Convicted.

Nine other Catholic priests and monks received sentences of from six months to 14 years after their conviction on similar charges. Among them was Ivan Shalich, Stepinac's stecretary, who was sentenced to 12 years at forced labor and loss of all citizenship rights for five years.

Stepinac pleaded innocent to the charges against him and refused to select his defense counsel. Attorneys were appointed by the court. The archbishop defended himself only against the principles involved, declining to answer specific charges in many cases.

Pope Pius XII denounced the trial as "villainous" and said the charge of "forced conversions" levelled against Stepinac was contrary to the canonic law of the church.

NAZIS TO MEET FATE OCT. 16

Rejection of Clemency Pleas Ends Hopes of Germans.

NUERNBERG—(INS)—Hermann Goering and his ten convicted Nazi accomplices will, their appeals for clemency denied, swing from the gallows shortly after dawn next Wednesday, Oct. 16.

Although no official announcement has been made to this effect, it is believed that the date and time has been definitely agreed upon.

According to the execution regulations of the U. S. Army, each of the doomed Nazis must hang for a full fifteen minutes.

The executions should take between four and five hours.

Military law requires that the bodies must hang for fifteen minutes to ensure death, although, barring accidents, death is almost always instantaneous or within three minutes.

BUSES INSPECTED

MIDDLETOWN —(AP)— Six of 311 school buses inspected by state patrolmen in an area embracing Butler, Hamilton, Warren and Preble counties, were found unserviceable, officials reported yesterday.

LISTING SHOWS GAIN OF 1,123 OVER YEAR AGO

3,489 Recorded in Madison Township and 19,486 Within Mansfield.

Richland county has 22,975 registered voters eligible to cast ballots in the Nov. 5 election, more than ever before in history.

That was the final figure announced today as the board of elections completed its count of persons who registered or transferred their voting status before the deadline Monday night.

Clerk Harry E. Hawley said the total was the highest ever registered for a Richland election.

Of the total, 19,486 were registered as voters within Mansfield; the other 3,489 as voters in Madison township. Those are the only governmental subdivisions of the county in which vote registration is required.

The 22,975 figure is an increase of 1,123 over the 21,852 registered voters who were eligible to cast ballots in the 1945 election and of 632 over the 22,343 persons who were registered for the 1944 balloting.

2,400 New Listings.

There were 2,400 new registrations and transfers this fall as compared with 849 in the fall of 1945.

Largest number of registrations and transfers this fall were in the First ward, Precinct G, where 631 were recorded. This compared with 492 in 1945 and 538 in 1944.

The Fourth ward was the only ward to show a decrease. The 1,738 recorded there compared to 1,695 last year and 1,805 in 1944.

Registrations and transfers in Madison township showed an increase of 113 over last year. The 1945 figure was 171 higher than 1944.

NEWSPRINT HIGHER

WASHINGTON—(AP)—OPA today raised manufacturers' ceiling prices for newsprint $10 a ton but refused a decontrol request by newspaper publishers.

Sugar Gums Up Gum Trade

WASHINGTON—(UP)—If you can't get your favorite brand of chewing gum, blame it on the sugar shortage.

"Until the sugar situation improves the chewing gum industry faces continued restriction of output," the commerce department reported today.

It added the optimistic prediction, however, that when sugar does become available, the industry will have enough chicle and other base gums on hand to provide ample chewing for all customers.

FBI NABS 3 SELLING ATOM BOMB PHOTOS

Suspicion of Newspapermen Lead to Arrest of Trio in Baltimore.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced the arrest today in Baltimore, Md., of three men on charges of publishing photographs of the atomic bomb.

He identified the men as George Wallace Comer, Miles Frederick Daubenheyer and James Barnes Rike.

The pictures were obtained, Hoover said, by one of the group when he was in service with a bomber squadron during the summer and fall of 1945 in the Pacific.

Comer, discharged from the army air forces in November, 1945, met Daubenheyer, a naval dischargee, while both were employed at Bel Air, Md., Hoover said.

They went to Baltimore Wednesday to purchase a truck and while there met Rike, an army captain.

Hoover said that during a discussion of the war, Comer exhibited six photographs of the atomic bomb to Rike, who suggested their sale to a newspaper for approximately $7,000.

Contact Newspaper.

Thereafter, they contacted the Baltimore News-Post and when representatives of the newspaper became suspicious they notified the FBI and military authorities.

Daubenheyer was arrested in the newspaper office by the FBI and military intelligence officers

TRUMAN TALKS OVER PROBLEM WITH CABINET

Lifting of Price Ceilings Hinted By President's Refusal to Comment.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Anderson reported today that President Truman "is now considering a decision" on the meat problem after an hour and a half cabinet session failed to produce a solution for easing the shortage. Anderson and other members would not say whether a statement could be expected from the White House during the day.

WASHINGTON—Facing the necessity for prompt action in the nation's meat crisis, President Truman is presenting the problem to his cabinet in a meeting today.

The president presumably will report on a conference of key government officials in which he sat in personally in order to size up what could or should be done about the lack of steaks and chops.

The hour and three-quarter session was held late yesterday at the White House. There Mr. Truman met with Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, Attorney General Tom Clark, OPA Administrator Paul Porter, a top side of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, and other officials.

President Truman reportedly will decide the administration's course on the meat problem "in two or three days"—then possibly explain it to the nation by radio.

While White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said no decision was reached, one high government official said he expects there will be one "very soon," although not before tomorrow.

* * * *

Price Ceilings Totter.

Meanwhile, the possibility of removing price ceilings on meat as a solution moved to the fore again.

Mr. Truman pushed this course into the spotlight at his news conference yesterday by declining to comment on a question whether he still favors keeping ceilings on meat.

Two weeks ago the chief executive said unequivocally that he was opposed to scrapping controls.

Fire Prevention Parade Moves Saturday At 7 P. M.

Line-up and line of march of the Fire Prevention parade tomorrow night through downtown Mansfield was announced today by the parade chairman, Floyd Dent.

The parade will climax the current observance of fire prevention week, which has reached into the city's homes, schools, churches, theaters, retail stores and factories.

It will leave promptly at 7 p. m. from the American Legion home on Park avenue west, proceed east on Park avenue around Central park, north on North Diamond street to East Fourth street, west on East Fourth to Main street and south on Main to Central park. There the parade will disband for the awarding of contest prizes and a demonstration of the hook and ladder by the city fire department.

Leading off will be the Mansfield Senior high school band, followed by: fire department rigs and trucks, Mansfield Tire and Rubber company float, a Girl Scout marching group, Tappan Stove company float, Westinghouse float, Volunteers of America truck, Home Materials company float, a Texico Oil company truck, a Boy Scout marching group and Lumbermans Mutual Insurance company float.

A prize of $5 will be awarded the best marching group, and prizes of $25, $15 and $10 awarded the three best floats entered.

MERCURY DROPS

Light Snow in Northern Ohio Called Likely Tomorrow.

Real fall weather, the unpleasant kind, is due to hit the Mansfield area tonight and will probably remain for most of the next five days, the weatherman predicted today.

Scattered showers, accompanied by blustering winds and a considerable drop in temperatures, are to ride into the area from the northwestern portion of the continent, the prediction showed.

The weather bureau continued to forecast probability of the first light fall of snow in northern Ohio by tomorrow night. He called it a "hint of snow."

In Mansfield temperatures ranged between 63 and 55 degrees during the past 24 hours.

Chamber Celebrates With Night of Levity Winning of National Member Championship

By AL PREYER

With the theme, "Mansfield's on the beam", Mansfield Chamber of Commerce workers, officers, past and present, and guests, last night spelled out V-I-C-T-O-R-Y in capital letters. They celebrated with an informal dinner in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, confirmation of the fact that the chamber's 1,140 members signed up during the campaign just completed placed Mansfield first in the nation for membership in cities of 25,000 to 50,000.

Pork on the hoof, nylons, blankets, electrical appliances, to mention only a few items, were awarded as prizes to the 30 teams as a small tangible appreciation by the chamber for the work that past president Robert Remy so aptly termed "well done".

Not forgetting the wives and sweethearts of the workers, who sat at home patiently while their "heroes" went on to victory, there were showers of nylons, candy and flowers to take home for the ladies.

* * *

Costly For Stephens

A goodly share of the prizes were purchased with the $167 a former president, George W. Stephens, laid on the table to fulfill a promise that he would donate $1 for each membership in excess of the 973 obtained in the campaign a year ago.

A committee purchased the nylons because Stephens insisted he didn't want any of the Chamber members to think he was giving hose to their wives.

From the time that president Reese Mills opened the entirely informal program with the warning that "those of you who leave here before the evening's festivities are over, do so at your own risk," until group pictures were taken at the close, the celebrating Chamber members made it clear that they felt that whatever Mansfield elected to do, it could do if it wished—and that the enlistment of 1,140 members for 1947 was but another in a series

Everyone Will Wear Red Feather to Boost Fund

Senior High Girls To Pass Them Out In Downtown.

This year, each and every Mansfielder who visits the downtown district from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m Saturday will become a Community Fund campaign booster.

Stationed on 11 of the city's busiest corners will be 100 Senior high school girls, wearing red feather elfin caps, who will give out 30,000 red feathers to passers-by.

In past campaigns the red feather was the symbol of giving. Reason for making it a major publicity agent for the drive which begins Monday, was explained today by Gilmore Hiett, chairman of the "stunt."

"The Red Feather itself is the symbol of the Community Fund," Hiett said. "If the feathers are given before the drive and are worn throughout the drive, the whole community becomes Community Fund conscious."

* * *

GIRLS WILL WORK IN 2-HOUR SHIFTS

Headed by Mrs. Richard Sturges, the girls will work in two, two-hour shifts. Along with the feather the girls will repeat this sentence:

"This feather will remind you that the Community Fund drive starts Monday."

Twelve of the girls, along with Mrs. Sturges, will canvass the streets and retail establishments of the downtown area to assure that every clerk has a red feather, Hiett said.

Corners at which the girls will appear in groups of four, are: Park avenue west and North Walnut; Park avenue west and South Walnut; South Main and South Park streets; Park avenue west and North Main street; North Main and North Park streets; North Main and West Third street, two corners at North Main and West Fourth street; West Fourth and North Mulberry streets and two corners at West Third and North Walnut streets.

* * *

Team Captains.

Twenty team captains, chosen by Mrs. Sturges, are: Patsy Wilburn, Harriett Lutz, Rosemary Buroff, Rebecca Flockenzier, Doris Goff, Donna Isaman, June Reining, Joyce Swaney, Gerry Hoffman, Shirley Bender, Minnie Bradley, Lucille Crider, Patty Lybarger, Betty Altaffer, Grace Dillon, Laura Dee Carpenter, Lila Cook, Jean Anderson, Carol Hamman and Marilyn Fancher.

The Community Fund campaign, which seeks $94,067 for the 11 civic agencies dependent upon it, will be launched Monday with a kick-off breakfast at 8:30 in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The principal speaker will be John A. Green, past president of the Cleveland Community Chest.

The drive will close Oct. 23.

Sheriff Directed To Pay Out Fund

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson today was under order of Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to distribute $7,200 obtained from the proceeds of a sheriff's sale of a house and lot at 192 Bartley avenue.

The sale to Clifton C. Laser, of 54 State street, resulted from action filed by the Mansfield Building and Loan company against H. Clay Ridgway and others.

Of the total, $5,430.14 will be distributed to the Mansfield Building and Loan company, $966.55 to Gus C. Helsel and Naomi Helsel, $126.28 to the clerk of courts, $52 03 to the county treasurer for taxes, and the balance to H. Clay Ridgway and Arthur Clay Ridgway as tenants in common at law of Margaret Lersh Ridgway, deceased.

A new process dries wood for railroad ties and other uses in 6 to 14 hours instead of 6 to 18 months.

AUTO THIEF SENT TO PEN

Jury Convicts McFarland of Second Offense.

Edward N. McFarland, 25, of Columbus, was sentenced to five to 30 years in the Ohio Penitentiary yesterday by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch after a jury in Richland county common pleas court found him guilty of a second offense charge of auto theft.

The 25-year-old Columbus resident was charged with stealing the car belonging to William Light of 263 Harker street on July 20 shortly after he escaped from the Mansfield Reformatory.

He was arrested in Coshocton by an alert police officer who noticed that his license tallied with one on a car reported stolen.

McFarland had gone to the police station with the driver of another car with whom he was involved in an accident, to make a report of the mishap, and was detained.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz reported that McFarland had previously served time in the Ohio Pen for auto theft. The defendant was represented by Atty. W. H. McClelland.

CARDS IN SERIES DRIVER'S SEAT

Dyermen Set Hit Mark In Ripping Sox, 12-3

By LEO H. PETERSEN

BOSTON—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, sitting in the driver's seat with their two southpaw aces well rested and ready to go, took over the favorite's role today as they met the Boston Red Sox in the fifth game of the world series.

When the Cards won the fourth game yesterday, 12 to 3, with one of the most devastating attacks ever seen in the classic, to tie the series at two games all, they became 5 to 5 choices to beat the American league champions.

For they had Howie Pollet, a 21-game winner, set to go today after four days' rest, and the slender star who lost the first game in 10 innings on Rudy York's home run, figured to give the Red Sox plenty of trouble.

Joe Cronin's pitching situation became desperate when big Tex Hughson failed yesterday as the Cardinals blasted the ball all over Fenway park, hanging up 20 base hits, to tie the record for the most ever made in a world series game. Those hits were good for 25 bases.

It was new-found power so far as the Cards were concerned for it was the most hitting they have done all season.

But the Red Sox are the kind of club that can break out with a rash of base hits at any time and Cronin figured that even though they lost to George (Big Red) Munger yesterday, his boys were finding their batting eyes. For they pounded out nine hits and superb Cardinal fielding cut off at least a half dozen others.

Once Hughson couldn't make it—he yielded the first six runs—Cronin gambled with his bullpen parade and couldn't come up with a stopper. The Red Sox pilot never quit trying to find the right man, however, parading five pitchers to the post after Hughson had been batted out. None of Hughson's successors were effective and the Cards teed off on them with such vigor that they tied the record set by the New York Giants for most hits in a series game The Giants rattled off 20 blows against the New York Yankees in the 1921 series.

And by using six pitchers Cronin tied the series record for the number of hurlers used in any one game.

The select group of players who have made four hits in a series game jumped from 22 to 26 in yesterday's display of power. Enos Slaughter, George Kurowski and Joe Gargiola of the Cards did the trick and so did Wally Moses of the Red Sox.

The players' pool was completed with yesterday's game as they share only in the receipts of the first four games. Receipts totaled $304,141. Since the sum is split on a 60-40 per cent basis the winning team's share would be $182,484.60, the losing team's cut $121,656.40.

Appleseed 11 Nips Ashland

ASHLAND—Jim Anderson and Herman Goettle set up the score in Johnny Appleseed's 6 to 0 victory over the powerful Ashland reserve eleven here yesterday afternoon.

Late in the fourth quarter, Anderson broke through the heavier Ashland line and hit the A's passer who fumbled the ball Goettle grabbed the ball in mid-air and raced 60 yards to pay-dirt.

The Pioneers rolled up nine first downs to seven for Ashland Howard Tipper turned in his usual fine brand of ball but found it hard to make much yardage through the Ashland line which outweighed Appleseed 15 pounds a man.

Bucks Approve

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Ohio State university officials announced here today that formal approval had been given by the university athletic board to the proposed Rose Bowl agreement between the western conference and the Pacific Coast conference.

Tygers Leave For Springfield; Sophomores Edge Elyria, 13-6

The Tygers of Coach Paul Snyder collide with the Springfield Wildcats tonight at 8 o'clock in their final action before the all-important clash with Massillon on the Stadium field gridiron next Friday night.

The Snydermen have won four straight contests this season and are the top-heavy favorites to add the Wildcats to their list of victories. Springfield has won only one of four 1946 contests and last week fell before a speedy Lima Central eleven, 32 to 0.

Only comparative scores available stem from the result of the Portsmouth-Mansfield and Portsmouth - Springfield games. The Trojans defeated Springfield, 20 to 14, and Mansfield knocked off Portsmouth, 14 to 7.

In 1945, the Bengal horde rolled over Springfield 41-6 and score of tonight's game may reach approximately the same figures. With the exception of a few bruises and assorted pains, the Tyger cast is ready for business as usual tonight.

Starting lineup will include Jim Sinerson and Al Henke, ends; Bob Rondy and Dave Boals, tackles; Dick Gross and Dave Richards, guards; Dave Wentz, center; Ollie Cline, Ralph Majors, Kenny Horvath and Ross Frisbee, backs. Ray Beard should see a lot of action as a defensive end.

Coach Jimmy Lymper will accompany the Tygers and work the walkie-talkie from the press box Four assistant coaches — Vern Hoffman, Fred Staub, Bob Kennedy and Norm Henline — will scout Massillon at Alliance while Harry Mehock will look over Canton Timken at New Philadelphia.

Mansfield Sophomores copped their fourth straight victory under the lights at Stadium field last night before a crowd of 500 fans as they edged the big Elyria reserve eleven, 13 to 6.

Elyria looked good in the early stages of the game and drove 50 yards for a score shortly after the opening kickoff. Mansfield drove 45-yards late in the period and Joe Letizia went over from the three to knot the game.

A recovered fumble on the Elyria 15 set up the second Tyger score. Louie Gregorio piled over from the three and John Corcoran added the 13th point.

Elyria threatened in the closing minutes but the Bengal forwards held for downs inside the five-yard line.

Mansfield plays at Ashland Monday afternoon.

Strickland and Zimovich Win

In the tag-match main-go weekly wrestling show George Strickland and Wild Bill Zimovich took the count over Jesse James and Antone Leone in short order at the Armory last night.

After a rough preliminary match between Leone and Zimovich, Referee Frank Grazl called in Tex Burwell of the Tex Burwell Border Legion Patrol Rodeo, to assist and Burwell kept the unnecessary roughness to a minimum.

Strickland and Zimovich pinned Leone and the Long Island badman in seven minutes and 35 seconds, and nine minutes and 49 seconds.

James used his famed bad-man tactics to pin Strickland in the first encounter, and Zimovich was given a decision when Leone took his spite out on Grazl and was disqualified

Army Meets Michigan In Headliner

By FRED THARP
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

Texas, Army and Notre Dame, nation's top gridiron triumvirate, are favored to win their clashes tomorrow afternoon but Fritz Crisler's Michigan Wolves plan a very rough day for the boys from the plains of the Hudson.

Last season Michigan scored the first TD of the season against the Kaydets but that was all brother. Army went on to 28 to 7. The Army has been scored on frequently this campaign but Mr. Inside, in the person of Doc Blanchard, will be back in action for the first time in two weeks and that fact figures to make the difference.

Mr. Outside, Glenn Davis, did okay for himself as Army romped over Cornell, 46 to 21. Davis threaded his way to four touchdowns. Davis and Blanchard have tallied 70 touchdowns for West Point in the Cadets 21 straight victories.

Texas hasn't had to work hard all season—what with 92 lettermen on the squad—and should have little trouble with Oklahoma while Notre Dame figures to take care of Purdue.

As one scribe said the Buckeyes

Rams Homecoming Set

MADISON FACES HIGHLY TOUTED LOUDONVILLE

By BRUCE M'GINTY

A beautiful queen, four attendants, cheerleaders, two high school marching bands and TWO GALLANT BANDS OF PIGSKIN PERFORMERS will be on hand for tonight's homecoming classic when the Mansfield Madison Rams face a strong undefeated Loudonville eleven on the Madison gridiron.

Ceremonies start at 7:30 p. m. as Queen Donna Beer and her attendants Joy Sauder, Lucille Berry, Betty Harris and Barbara Keipp make their entrance in a 1946 red Plymouth convertible.

After the queen's entrance, the Loudonville high school band will parade onto the field followed by the Madison musicians.

Lucille Berry, one of Miss Beer's attendants, is the head cheerleader, and this will make the first time in four years at Madison that she hasn't lead the cheering section during an athletic event at the school.

At half time the Loudonville band will march on the field first and go through some specially prepared maneuvers for the homecoming affair. After the visiting bandsmen depart from the field Madison will parade on and honor Loudonville visitors by forming an "L" and playing the Red Birds school song.

Then Madison's band will form two columns and Miss Beer and her attendants will drive through the two columns and move in front of the home stands. The band will form an "M" at which time Gloria Tucker, 1945 queen, will crown Miss Beer and then she and her attendants will mount the throne for the remainder of grid game.

At the completion of the crowning ceremonies, the band will play Madison's alma mater and then make its departure from the field.

Mrs. Margaret Ziroff, physical education instructor for the girls at Madison, is in charge of the queen, her attendants and cheerleaders, and will supervise the dance in the gym immediately after the game.

Coach Jeff DeHaven has been putting the Rams through the paces this week in preparation to the league tilt. DeHaven has been setting up a defense to stop Red Birds' George Haudenschild, Bill Porter and Dick Currens.

Haudenschild, Porter and Currens have been the main-stays of the Loudonville backfield. Porter, a sophomore, was one of the most effective ground-gainers in the Northeastern Buckeye league in 1945 and has caused Red Bird opponents plenty of headaches this season.

Haudenschild is a running mate with Porter and also very effective with the pigskin. Currens is the pass-master for the visitors and has been tagged "Dead Eye Dick" from the showing he has made this season.

DeHaven's Rams will not have their usual advantage in speed this game but for the first time this season have a slight weight advantage. Madison is in good physical condition and waiting to clip the wings of the Red Birds.

This will be Loudonville's first league game and the Red Birds are gunning for their fifth straight victory. However the Rams think differently and are confident that the homecoming will be a complete success from beginning to end.

Mt. Gilead Host To Richwood 11

MT. GILEAD—The Mt. Gilead High School Indians will be after their third win in a row and second Mid-State League victory when they meet the Richwood eleven at the Mt. Gilead field tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Indians scored an impressive 32-19 victory over Sunbury last week to tie Marion St. Mary and Marysville for the lead in the league race. Richwood last week dropped its first league game and fourth game of the year at Marysville by a 19 to 0 score.

Coach Robert Blose's team will be bolstered by the return of Dick Campbell, halfback letterman of last season who has not seen service yet this year.

Dayton Rockets Play At Galion

GALION—The Dayton Rockets are expected to give the Galion Vet Cubs, semi-pro football team, a real battle at Heise park, here, Sunday afternoon.

The line-up for the Rockets includes such players as Joe Bloomingdale, former Southern California Trojan; Phil Pacey, San Diego Marines; George Behr, Georgia Pre-Flight; Larry Arnold, Ft. Knox Dakotas; John McQueen, 1942 All-State selection at Miamisburg; Art Penisis, Northridge Polar Bear; Paul Greuko, Miami Navy Training Alumni; Jim Hunn, Trotwood High star; and five players with semi-pro experience, Jack Miller, Bob O'Brien, Bill Yakley, Claude Henley and Jack Lowrey.

Leslie O'Connor On Committee

BOSTON—(U.P.)—The American league at a meeting today elected Leslie O'Connor, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, to its executive committee, succeeding President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees.

Other members are the two league presidents, Will Harridge of the American and Ford Frick of the National; General Manager Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds for National league owners, and players representatives Dixie Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Johnny Murphy of the Yankees.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Two Ohio State football players were declared ineligible today to compete for the Buckeye team. Chuck Gandee, second-string fullback, and Dick Jackson, reserve end, were dropped from the squad because of scholastic failures during the summer quarter.

Johnson Improved

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Walter Johnson, one-time king of major league pitchers, was holding his own today, after rallying slightly after a week-end relapse which Georgetown hospital doctors described as "critical."

of Ohio State will be the champions of California after they beat Wisconsin tomorrow. Paul Bixler has his squad in Madison for their first Western Conference fuss and the Bucks figure to be about two TD's better than the Badgers.

Oh yes, the champ of California dodge. Ohio State rocked Southern California, 21 to 0, last week while on the previous week-end the Badgers rolled over California, 28 to 7.

Burwell is the producer and announcer of this show and has many talented, famous showmen from Cole Brothers circus to add to the entertainment and atmosphere of the wild-wooly west.

One of the main features is Bobby Jones who made a very fine showing at Madison Square Garden in the 1945 Rodeo. Jones placed in the money with his talent of bronc-busting.

CHEAP FARM
113½ Acres

Just listed for out-of-town owner, 113½ acres of rolling land, just off Possum Run Road, only 6 miles out. This is a rolling farm with several good fields for grain and about 35 acres of timber. The buildings are not modern. There is a 6-room house that needs some repair. The barn is in fair condition and there is a double corn crib with wagon shed. If you want security invest in LAND. That's the foundation of existence for all time to come. If you are interested in bottom land with modern buildings don't call on this farm. If, however, you want a place where you can have some dairy cows, pigs and chickens and have sufficient tillable land for feed and at the same time not pay $200.000 per acre, this place will suit you. Don't be misled, however, and expect to see a lot of ginger bread as this isn't the place. Buy this farm and let the other fellow stand in line for meat and pay $1 per pound for butter and 90c for eggs. Let him hunt the relief board when things get tough as you will always have your living here. The price only $5,000. That's about what you will have to pay for a shack in town. Call

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

COUSIN SKIMMER

How fortunate it is that we
In many things so disagree.
—Peter Rabbit.

That sounds as if Peter is something of a philosopher. Perhaps he is. Anyway he touches a truth that many folks, all too many, seem to wholly miss. It is disagreement, not agreement, that makes for successful living. Supposing all wanted the same kind of food and no other kind. Supposing all wanted to live in the same kind of a place; to do the very same things; agreed in all matters. That would be perfect agreement and what a terrible place this old world would be! It is from disagreement that the great things, the best things in life, come. If ever there is an end of disagreement the end of progress will also have been reached.

Forktail the Barn Swallow with so many others of his kind that until he saw that great flock Peter had not supposed there were so many Barn Swallows in all the Great World, had left for the Sunny South. Peter had watched them getting their breakfast in the air above the Green Meadows and the Old Briar-patch. Breakfast over they had circled up and up and up until they looked like a dark cloud high in the blue sky. If Peter had not watched that cloud form he never would have believed that it was made up wholly of feathered folks.

Peter sighed. "I hate to see them go. I suppose we won't see another Swallow until next spring," said he to Mrs. Peter.

"Then there must be something wrong with your eyes. Peter Rabbit," said a twittery voice.

Peter looked up quickly. Perched on a twig a little above his head was a Swallow, not a Barn Swallow to be sure, but just as much a Swallow. He didn't have a long, deeply forked tail, and he didn't wear a throat piece of deep reddish brown and a waistcoat of the same color but very much lighter. He wore instead a waistcoat of dazzling white. He kept it spotless. He was Forktails cousin, A Skimmer the Tree Swallow' called Skimmer because of the way in which he flies low over water, skimming the surface.

"What are you doing here?" asked Peter bluntly.

"Why shouldn't I be here? Who has a better right?" demanded his pretty visitor.

"Your cousin, Forktail, and what looked like all the others of his kind in the Great World have just left for the Sunny South. Did you get left behind?"

"No, I didn't get left behind; I stayed behind. So did the rest of my family as you would have seen had you looked out over to Green Meadows before making that remark about not seeing another Swallow until next spring. If you use your eyes you will see some of us around for sometime yet," said Skimmer.

Peter glanced out over the Green Meadows. For an instant he wondered if Forktail and his flock had returned. Then the flashes of white as the swift fliers turned, giving glimpses of their white breasts, proved to him that these were Tree Swallows. He was puzzled. Yes, sir, he was really puzzled. If Forktail felt that he had to go, that he didn't dare stay any longer, why didn't Skimmer feel the same way.

"Aren't you afraid that Jack Frost may come suddenly and starve you to death by killing all the insects that fly?" he asked.

"We wouldn't starve to death if he did," replied Skimmer.

"Forktail said he would. If he would why wouldn't you!" demanded Peter.

"Cousin Forktail should learn to vary his food. Depending on one kind of food only is plain foolishness if you ask me, and Cousin Forktail eats hardly anything but insects and those mostly the kinds that he can catch in the air," said Skimmer. He darted out over the grass snapped up an insect Peter hadn't seen fly past, circled and returned to his perch.

"But you eat the same kind of food," protested Peter.

"And other things besides," said Skimmer. He darted out and was lost to Peter's sight among the crowd of graceful fliers as they all headed for the telephone wires on which the Barn Swallows had delighted to sit.

"I don't see what difference it makes if Skimmer does eat some things that his cousin doesn't eat," muttered Peter.

LA FARGE BOOK AMONG LATEST FICTION WORKS

Writings of Priestley, Ziff and Salter Also Are Offered.

Fiction books by Christopher LaFarge and J. B. Priestley and non-fiction writings of John T. Salter and William Ziff are among new books being made available by the Public Library.

SUDDEN GUEST, by Christopher LaFarge is the story of an egocentric woman and the particular kind of torture that a selfish woman can create for herself. The action takes place in Rhode Island during and between the two great Eastern hurricanes of 1938 and 1944. The interplay of physical and psychological drama make it a novel with immediate appeal for a wide variety of readers—parable of and for our time.

BRIGHT DAY, by J. B. Priestley is a nostalgic story told in the first person by Gregory Dawson, a middle-aged writer of screen plays. While staying in Cornwall he comes unexpectedly upon two friends of his youth. From that point the story runs in two parallel threads: what happened in 1914 and what happened today. With ease and skill, Mr. Priestley has written the story not only of two different societies but also of a man's inward change and final growth.

Story of Wars.

The French and Indian Wars provide the background for RED MORNING, by Ruby F. Frey. Jane McClain loved her home in Virginia but she longed for the adventure of life on the frontier. To escape to that freer life she married a young English officer bound for Ohio's western lands. He dies at the settlement where they are waiting to join a party going West. It is there Jane meets John Grazier, trader, gunsmith, and highly inappropriate husband. This is their story.

Other Fiction:

ANIMAL FARM — Orwell; STRANGER AT HOME—Sanders; MUSEUM PIECE NUMBER 13—King; SEA CHANGE — Hunt; THUNDERBIRD TRAIL — MacDonald.

PUBLIC MEN IN AND OUT OF OFFICE, edited by John T. Salter is a collection of essays on prominent American political figures. It includes chapters on Harry Truman and Henry Wallace; Joseph Ball and Theodore Bilbo; Harold Stassen and John W. Bricker; and many others. Each chapter is by a different author, and although sometimes colored by the author's own political bias, each is an interesting and important portrait of a public figure and of particular interest in this election year.

Discussion of Peace.

TWO WORLDS, by William Ziff is subtitled: "A REALIST'S APPROACH TO THE PROBLEM OF KEEPING THE PEACE. According to Mr. Ziff we have only two great world powers: the United States and Russia. He indicates the pattern of the world ahead as he sees it to be an extension of the principle of Federalization under which both countries are organized.

In a lighter vein we have WE SHOOK THE FAMILY TREE by Hildegarde Dolson. She tells, with engaging irreverance, the story of her life with her understanding and happy-go-lucky family, their good-natured acceptance of her madcap escapades both as a budding author and as an irresponsible college girl and of her struggles when she came to New York. The author is a high-salaried advertising woman, a feature writer, and an irregular contributor to the New Yorker.

Other Non-Fiction:

LITTLE MAGAZINE — Hoffman; PROPHETS AND PEOPLES—Kohn; THE NEGRO AND THE POST-WAR WORLD—Logan; BROTHERHOOD OF SLEEPING CAR PORTERS—Brazeal; HOW TO BE A SUCCESS IN THE RESTAURANT BUSINESS — Gray; HUNTING NORTH AMERICAN DEER—Carhart; TWILIGHT BAR—Koestler; SPOTLIGHT OF LABOR UNIONS—Smith; THE DIVINE RIGHT OF CAPITAL—Ayres.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The state supreme court yesterday cleared the way for state acquisition of the nine-story Hoover pavilion in Cleveland for use as a state mental institution. The high court threw out the appeal of Mildred G. PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

PLANS STATION AS 'CREDIT TO COMMUNITY'

Nominal Fee at First.

When the Journal company's FM station opens, there will be no advertising charge, or a very nominal one, until FM receivers are more numerous, Horvitz said.

Cross examined by Charles Weyland, counsel for Richland, Inc., whose FM application was heard yesterday, Horvitz said the News-Journal doesn't carry the program log of station WMAN because he doesn't consider it "a legitimate station."

Profit Is Shown.

Testimony given yesterday afternoon at the hearing on a request of Richland, Inc., for an FM radio station permit in Mansfield, showed that the firm, operator of WMAN, had no net profits in 1942 or 1943, while net income, before deduction of taxes, was $17,603 in 1944 and $26,575 in 1945.

The income figures were provided by J. M. O'Hara, vice president and general manager of the applicant firm.

O'Hara said net income now, before taxes are deducted, ranges from $3,500 to $5,500 a month.

The Richland, Inc., case, second of three to be heard here, was completed last night.

Enough For Two.

Applicants for radio permits are required to show their financial ratings as evidence that they are able to build and operate a station and absorb losses for a time if it becomes necessary.

O'Hara said he believed there was sufficient radio advertising in Mansfield to support two AM and two FM stations.

He made the statement in reply to a question from Examiner Blume as to whether he thought the News-Journal AM station, if granted by the FCC, would reduce the revenue of WMAN.

"There are so many advertisers now who want to get on the radio that I think there's enough to support two AM and two FM stations," O'Hara said.

Plan 10-Hour Operation.

Witnesses yesterday for Richland, Inc., included O'Hara, Harry C. Lytle, jr., program director for WMAN, and Monroe F. Rubin, of Shaker Heights, president of Richland, Inc.

Lytle said Richland, Inc., planned to operate its FM station 10 hours a day, duplicating a number of the programs now on WMAN.

In its report yesterday of testimony offered by Edward Lamb, Toledo. The News-Journal erroneously stated that Lamb had testified he would not sell time to labor unions because they are not non-profit organizations. Lamb actually said he would give time to unions to promote their own ends.

Triplets Surprise Bill

"The event" of an evening full of surprises was the surprised look on the face of Bill Solomon, one of the members of the winning combination of Solomon and "Duby" Weil, when Bill's five-year-old triplets, Carol Ann, Sarah Lou and William Jerome, and seven-year Mary Margaret, were ushered onto the scene to congratulate their father as the "greatest producer not only of memberships but future members."

The evening would not have been complete without some word from last year's first place city now in second, Colorado Springs, and so suddenly members were whisked by the magic of wireless to "somewhere" — where they heard a senatorial voice telling them of their achievement but warning that the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce would not be left far "behind"—after which they heard the flowing of water—presumably from the famous springs.

Indians Appear

Shoved into third place in Chamber memberships by Mansfield's achievement was the city of Yakima, Washington, and not to be outdone by Mansfield, a "Yaki" Indian, and his squaw "ma" (any resemblance to a native Yakiman living or dead was purely coincidental!) interrupted the proceedings and winning team of Solomon and Weil called to put on an exhibition of their persuasive technique.

This they did to the tune of a band playing "Hail! Hail! the Gangs' All Here."

Telegrams of congratulations were read as they poured in from all parts of the nation. Messages from Governor Frank J. Lausche, John W. Bricker, U. S. Senator, Robert A. Taft, John W. Graham, the United States Chamber of Commerce and the chambers of the state of Ohio, Middletown, Elyria, Canton, Cincinnati, Akron, Lima, Marion, Massillon, Cleveland, Lorain, Columbus, and Dayton, were read.

Addresses by past presidents George W. Stephens, Robert E. Remy, Carl H. Henkel, C. L. Van Derau, Lester Redding, Ray Calene, and Paul Eliot and the awarding of the many prizes and gifts, with Cub Scout Dean Fighter assisting in the ceremonies, ended an evening that truly could be summed up as "the chamber's night to howl."

BAN ENDS

Air Flights Over Balkans Return to Normal.

LONDON—(U.P.)—Civil and military flights over Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania went back to normal today after a mysterious and still-unexplained suspension of flights at the instruction of the Russian high command.

The strange ban on flights over the three countries was revoked as mysteriously as it was imposed.

The Russians had nothing to say about the affair. Neither did American military officials beyond the statement that flights had been banned at the request of the Russians.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, October 12

The astral indications are for a difficult, perplexing and discouraging state of affairs, with certain obscure and chaotic situations to meet, and with little insight or direction for overcoming or sidestepping. The mind seems covered with confusion, unable to cope with impending crises, and with inner urges or promptings to rebellious, erratic, angry, and turbulent reactions, but adding to the impasse.

A child born on this day will have an impetuous and contradictory state of mind, urging it into dangerous and unprofitable crises, unless it be disciplined and wisely directed.

Action Near In Meat Crisis

The beef packing industry yesterday filed its formal petition for elimination of ceilings, and Anderson's approval is all that would be required.

The secretary has promised "prompt action" on the petition.

However, in a speech at Geneva, N. Y., last night he declared the issue is not "beef before election."

"We are in this for the long pull," he said, "and the action of the department of agriculture must be taken in the knowledge that we are still living in an upset world."

On the political side, some administration advisers have contended that decontrol could not result in any big improvement before the Nov. 5 election. They have taken the position that it would take at least two to three weeks to get meat to butcher shops, and even then the quantity might not be large.

Hence reports persisted at the agriculture department that whatever action the government takes may be limited to channeling more meat animals from small to big packers in an effort to get the widest possible distribution.

At his news conference, Mr. Truman had no comment when a reporter asked whether he believes that public dissatisfaction over the meat shortage is likely to be reflected in the November elections.

MACHINES MOVE TO SITE OF DAM

Contractor Says Work Will Be Started Wednesday.

Stripping operations on the site of the city's Clear Fork dam will be started Wednesday, Roger Au, contractor, said today at a meeting at which he signed the performance bond for the $424,500 project.

Au said that he was moving bulldozers and stripping machinery from Bellevue and Port Clinton today.

Au said the Daumit construction company of Mansfield will do all of the concrete work on the dam which will impound millions of gallons of water to boost the city's available supply to around 10 to 15 million gallons a day. About 4,000 cubic yards of concrete will go into the dam, Au said.

Attending the meeting in addition to Au, were Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, W. W. Enlow, service-safety director, Ralph Stanton, Mansfield representative of the General Casualty company; Carl Walker, Jennings-Lawrence engineer, and City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner.

PARIS—(AP)—The United States told the peace conference today it was ready to join in any United Nations defense of Greece "if Greece's security is endangered by the acts of an aggressor nation."

The U. S. ambassador to France, Jefferson Caffery, speaking on the peace treaty with Bulgaria, said the United States had consented to leave Bulgaria her present frontier with Greece only because Americans relied upon United Nations safeguards to protect Greece from any attack.

"The United States delegation can give full assurance that the United States can be counted upon to act" in accordance with such measures, Caffery told the delegates.

PORTUGAL CALM AFTER REVOLT

Travelers Report More Than 900 Arrested in Capital.

LISBON, Portugal —(AP)— Portugal was reported calm today after a short-lived bloodless soldier revolt in the north that led the Salazar government to alert troops and cut telephone communications out of Lisbon.

(Travelers arriving by plane in Madrid from Lisbon said more than 900 persons had been arrested in the Portuguese capital yesterday. They added that all now was quiet in the capital.)

A communique last night said a regular army officer, a group of noncommissioned officers and 70 soldiers participating in the uprising had surrendered without a fight . . . it added: "There is complete calm throughout Portugal."

Lisbon heard reports that a young officer had dashed into a cavalry barracks at Monte Predralva near Oporto, some 175 miles north of the capital, and, shouting for soldiers to join "a march to glory to conquer freedom," had led four or five score of them southward toward this city.

Republican guardsmen (militarized police) stopped the marchers near Coimera, about 75 miles south of Oporto and induced them to give themselves up, the reports said.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1946

C. of C. Faces Greatest Challenge

SUCCESS imposes the penalty of accepting greater responsibilities, and this is the challenge that the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce is now called upon to meet in advancing to the position of largest organization of its kind in any United States city in the 25,000 to 50,000 population range.

Last night's Victory dinner, for team workers in last week's membership campaign in which the seemingly ambitious 1,100 goal was reached—and passed—was an inspiring affair, with a sufficient tone of seriousness breaking in upon the lighter moments to impress everyone with the importance of moving ahead rather than being satisfied with past and present accomplishments.

Mansfield has frequently gained national attention in a creditable way, as a desirable small city in which to operate an industry, conduct a business, engage in a profession, make a home in a friendly atmosphere, and rear children in a wholesome environment.

At no time in the past, however, has the forward-looking attitude of Mansfield been more forcefully presented than in this year's Chamber of Commerce record-making membership drive which places this city in top position in the nation in its population bracket.

The record of Chamber of Commerce growth in recent years is truly astounding, and provides a dependable barometer of community progress as well as giving an idea of what may be expected within the next decade, if national and world conditions do not retard continued advancement.

Think, for instance, that as late as 1935 Chamber of Commerce membership was no more than 155, and that it was not until 1939 that the 500 mark was passed. Then there was a consistent creeping upward to the impressive 973 figure of last year, with 1,140 as present enrollment.

Last night's meeting, with its recognition of the effective work of the sixty actual canvassers in the recent campaign, gives an idea of the energy, enthusiasm and determination which made success possible and which points the way to a better and larger Mansfield of the future.

An Appreciation of Miss Blake, Teacher

WHATEVER else may be neglected or overlooked, in the midst of rushing events, there is one expression of appreciation that must not be longer delayed—reference being to the long and fine service of Miss Cloude Blake as a teacher in Mansfield high school from which she recently resigned.

It was twenty-eight years ago that Miss Blake came to Mansfield as an experienced and capable teacher of English, and it has been the good fortune of thousands of students to come under her teaching of a basic subject.

A comment on Miss Blake by a close friend is that, as a student of human nature, she readily recognized ability and had the happy faculty of "not only encouraging but also commanding pupils to live up to their ability."

Also worthy of a place in the minds of those who admire the qualities which made Miss Blake an exceptionally "good teacher" was her conscientiousness in professional obligations, requiring nothing from her pupils that she had not already applied in her own efforts to gain knowledge.

Included in her creed, which carried through her entire teaching career, was belief in the joy of study; delight of acquaintance with books; discipline of diligent learning, and rediscovery of the world of Nature and of men through an open mind.

Then, too, there is her belief that character is essential to the highest type of scholarship; that service is the privilege and responsibility of all enlightened members of society, and that an obligation rests upon these to minister with kindness and understanding to needs of the less fortunate in talents and opportunity.

It is an inspiring record that you have made in Mansfield, Miss Blake, and not only the many people, here and elsewhere, who remember you as "teacher," but everyone who has known of your fine work in Mansfield high school, wish you much happiness in future years—with the hope that you will always have pleasant recollections of Mansfield and your associates here.

Women's Clubs Have Real Value

THIS is the time of year when Mother leaves the lunch dishes to dry themselves in the drainer, dons her best bib and tucker, and sallies forth to her club meeting. The new program is ready, the new president is anxious to show the membership how well she can handle the business, and with the first meeting over, the club year is in full swing.

Whether the organization is a study club, a garden club, planning to plant and landscape a small park to beautify an intersection, a PTA earning money to furnish milk for school children, or a branch of the League of Women Voters busy with an educational campaign for the enlightenment of the electorate, the aims of the clubwomen are worthy ones, and are tackled in an energetic, efficient manner.

When Mother returns, to prepare the evening meal, she has much to bring to her family at the dinner table besides food. She has a broader outlook on world affairs and a fresher viewpoint from which to study family problems than did her grandmother, whose world was bounded by her own four walls.

Colored Nurses Gain Acceptance

THE American Nurses Association, at its recent convention in Atlantic City, voted to take into membership those qualified Negro nurses, largely from southern states, who cannot be members of the ANA through their state organizations.

In other words, color is of less importance in nursing than professional ability. Here is evidence of right thinking though many people may be surprised to learn that capable colored nurses ever were barred from membership in the national nurses' group.

Here's How Truman Beat Dewey On Jewish Migration Statement

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Here is the inside story on how President Truman happened to issue his recent statement on Jewish immigration into Palestine.

About a week before the statement, Dave Niles, one of Truman's White House secretaries, tipped him to the fact that Governor Dewey was speaking before the United Jewish Appeal on the week-end of the Jewish holiday and would make a strong statement for Jewish migration. Niles suggested that Truman beat Dewey to the punch and re-emphasize his own previous position for Jewish migration.

Accordingly, the White House asked Acting Secretary of State Will Clayton to draft a statement for the president to be issued on Oct. 4, the eve of Yom Kippur. Clayton turned the matter over to Loy Henderson, head of the state department's Near East division, who has been accused of being pro-Arab, and who came up with a milk-and-water statement calculated not to offend the British and Arabs.

When this went over to the White House, it got the immediate thumbs-down sign. By this time Under-Secretary Dean Acheson had returned and taken over the helm in the state department. He sat up most of one night redrafting and toughening up the statement on Palestine which Truman finally issued just two days before Dewey's speech.

Note—Having been beaten to the punch, Dewey came out not for the migration of 100,000 Jews but for "hundreds of thousands."

Likes To Be Friendly.

One reason the president so often finds himself in hot water is that he isn't quite tough enough with his own friends. In the end he can say "no" and say it with vigor, but when a friend like Henry Wallace tackles him on foreign policy, or when Congressman John McCormack of Massachusetts tackles him on meat, his first inclination is to go along.

For instance, when House Majority Leader McCormack publicly urged the president to remove ceilings on meat prices he thought he was doing so with the president's okay. But after the McCormick statement, OPA chief Paul Porter called and told the president he had heard that the McCormick statement was encouraged by the White House.

"I can't have any hope of winning the fight to keep prices down when we get statements like that from supposed responsible leaders of the administration—and especially when you advise such statements," Porter said.

The president replied that he had been in contact with McCormack, but that McCormack must have misunderstood him. He had sympathized with McCormack but had never meant for McCormack to issue such a statement. Later in the day he made it very plain in tough language to the nation that he stood four-square behind Porter and the OPA.

Panic-Stricken Navy.

Funny how little rumors grow into big things. The War Assets Administration recently handed a large naval airport at Westerly back to the state of Rhode Island, and it all came about from a chance remark made to a policeman.

For more than a year Rhode Island had negotiated with the navy for the return of the Westerly airport. But red tape was too hard to unravel. A couple of weeks ago, however, Governor John Pastore was driving by the During their conversation the trooper asked the governor how negotiations for return of the airfield and stopped at the main entrance to chat with a state trooper whom he had known for a long time.

"It's still tied up in red tape," the governor replied; then jokingly added: "I guess the only thing to do is to send some of you boys down to seize the field and take it over for the state."

Pastore drove off and forgot about the incident. But two days later, he got a telephone call from Assistant Secretary of the Navy John Sullivan in Washington.

"John," said Sullivan, "we've got to talk this thing over! What an ungodly mess it would be if you sent your troopers out to seize that field from the navy."

Completely stumped for a moment, Gov. Pastore finally remembered his conversation with the state trooper. He decided to bluff his way through.

"We simply can't wait any longer, John," he told Sullivan. "The state needs that field for overflow air traffic. We've been waiting long enough. In one week, if I don't have action down there, I'm going to send a company of state police to take it over—and I don't think the United States navy wants to go to war with the state of Rhode Island."

Sullivan urged Pastore to "hold everything." Before the week was more than half up, representatives of the navy, the WAA and the Civil Aeronautics association were in Pastore's office and the state of Rhode Island had its airfield once again.

Note—What the Governor didn't know was that a naval night-watchman overheard the remark to the state trooper and excitedly phoned the navy. Actually the navy was not responsible for the delay since the law requires that transfer be arranged through the War Assets Administration.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Oct. 11, 1926.

Senator Frank B. Willis was speaker at Republican rally in Central park, as formal opening of county campaign.

T. J. Shocker returned from California where he visited after attending GAR national encampment in Des Moines, Ia.

Study section of Civic Music League met at Women's club and aims of the section were explained by Mrs. Charles Fuchs.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mitchell, 30 Helen avenue.

Miss Helen E. Steiner, of Cleveland, was speaker at ladies night party of Exchange club.

Dr. Leopold Adams moved from 335 Marion avenue to 155 West Third street.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On October 11, 1864, General Hood marched on Resaca and Dalton in a maneuver calculated to break off Sherman's line of communication.

Dave Boone Says:

THIS is a week set aside for emphasis on a great thing: giving employment to the physically handicapped—men who, with an arm or a leg off, perhaps sightless or otherwise crippled, can still fill some job perfectly.

* * *

A fellow handicapped that way has a different set of values and appreciations when it comes to a job. It seems a pretty wonderful thing to him, and it ought to help the spirit of any office or shop just to know that in the organization were some boys who were in the big fight and paid a high price to make things softer for those at home.

* * *

Firms that have employed the physically handicapped report that these men not only work with an enthusiasm that ain't been any too general lately, but that they do something for the morale of the place.

* * *

They may not be whole in body but they're apt to be 100 per cent intact in spirit and viewpoint, which is extra helpful these days.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"I'm mad at my husband. . . . What can I throw away his money on?!!"

Timely Editorial

Increasing Production.

To the bureau of labor statistics, productivity is not sweating labor, nor is it a speedup. It is an increase in production per worker that is got by supplying the worker with a better arrangement of his working conditions, with better and more effective machinery (that is, more capital per worker) and with better organization all around.

An elevator operator, who finds the hotel more completely occupied and more passengers in her elevator, has her own productivity increased by that larger volume even though she may operate an entirely automatic elevator. Her work is not increased by the greater use of her elevator. So it is in most business, especially factory employment. Management must sweat out the new methods.

The bureau of labor statistics indicates that production is due soon to see a fast spurt. But though management may contribute the chief "sweat," labor can greatly facilitate a boom in output.—Minneapolis Star-Journal.

GI Joes Neglected In Passing Out Awards.

WASHINGTON — Memo to the war department:

Gentlemen:

Even in the matter of postwar decorations, there is such a thing as decency and good taste. Surely you have not forgotten so soon that those "wartime awards" you now are dealing out so profusely to upper bracket brass, army regulars and non-combatants of the last war are the same decorations which were earned in action by a lot of guys named Joe.

In case you don't know it, all this fruit salad you are pinning on the chests of generals who never heard a shot fired in anger is wreaking a heckuva lot of havoc with your current recruiting campaign—because it's sickening to a lot of guys who might otherwise sign up.

Even the fairly cynical crowd of postwar capital correspondents (many of whom, incidentally, saw a lot of action) are beginning to find this cheapening of decorations a bit hard to swallow.

For example:

Picking at random four of the war department's most recent announcement of awards to military personnel, involving decorations from Distinguished Service Medals on down (or up, if you choose), you find a total of 134 individuals thus honored.

(The announcements, if you wish to authenticate this report, are 25-97282, 25-97414, 25-98007 and 25-98008—and they are extremely representative of your recent decoration records.)

Of those 134 persons, 42 were generals.

Seventy-two were colonels.

Nine were majors.

Seven were captains.

Four were lieutenants.

None were enlisted men.

The decorations involved include not only the Distinguished Service Medal but also the Silver Star, the Bronze Star, the Legion of Merit and the various Oak Leaf Clusters which are given in lieu of a second awarding of the same medal.

Many people realize, gentlemen, that at least one of those decorations (the Silver Star) goes only to combat soldiers and that all of them have been awarded to thousands of such soldiers who, as the boys say, earned them the hard way.

Nevertheless, of the 134 listed for decorations, only 65 were even overseas—at least at the time for which the awards were given.

And of the 65, not more than 50 could possibly have seen any sort of action—and by "action," I mean could even have been subjected to the slightest bombing raid.

All of this, you understand, is taken from your own records.

Salted here and there among obviously phoney awards were several heart-breakingly legitimate ones, earned by guys who had more wounds than decorations, and some of them were posthumous citations. That's what made so many of the boys so bitter.

Those of us who were around when the feuding was in progress realize that you need go no farther than Walter Reed hospital to find countless undecorated (save for the Purple Heart, of course) soldiers who really earned these awards you're handing out so carelessly.

So why not skip that daily cocktail full of fruit salad, gentlemen? The generals, the colonels and the West Point graduates are doing all right as it is, and even they—I believe, from what I've seen of them—could hardly condone such cheapening of American army awards so soon after identical decorations were justly pinned on the chests of the dead, the dying and the derelicts of this conflict so recently closed.

THOUSANDS of Detroiters are trooping over the border for Canadian steaks. . . . Horace Greeley's "go west" signpost has been twisted south.

Private Interests Oppose Public Power.

PORTLAND, Ore.—In this Pacific northwest politics is seething at the surface, like bubbles from those mud springs in Yellowstone Park. There are the same issues that are raised elsewhere — OPA and its controls, particularly meat just now: strikes and labor trouble, Russia, Communism, and general incompetence in Washington.

But underneath is the conflict between philosophies of government. Here that chiefly concerns public power.

The average voter seems no more conscious of it than he does of the miracle of light when he punches the switch in his home—which is understandable. But there are some who realize its significance.

They may be described thus:

Private power interests, mostly subsidiaries of big eastern groups, and banking and financial interests tied in with them.

Government power authority officials, who watch the increasingly vigorous fight of the first group against further public power expansion.

Those who want to seize the opportunity offered by creation of war industries out here to build up the Pacific coast industrially, which includes many men running for public office in this section.

Cheap power is the key to industrialization of the Pacific coast. That made it possible to establish war industries here, and it is the chief attraction to peacetime industries.

It is public power that has brought cheap power, either of itself, through government projects, or as a competitive influence to force down private power rates.

Big eastern interests have discouraged independent, locally financed development of the west, as well as the south. People out here, as in the South, describe themselves, ironically, as colonial dependents of the East. These dominant eastern interests are as vitally interested in the present upsurge against further expansion of public power, as are the private companies directly affected.

They operate through politics. They know well which side they are on. They always have. They are, for instance, deeply interested in the campaign to defeat Lief Erickson for the senate in Montana; Senator Hugh B. Mitchell in Washington; Abe Murdock in Utah, and others in this whole western country who have New Deal leanings and go along generally on public expansion.

The fight develops in various guises, and there is perhaps over-zealousness on both sides—government and private power companies. Each is neck deep in it.

A charge often raised against the Bonneville Power Administration, which includes Bonneville, Grand Coulee and other components in the Columbia river system, is that there are too many people on the payroll.

The fight for and against expansion of public power will take place in congress, and the elections here this November will have their influence on its outcome.

Inflation Reaches "Corner-Grocery" Level.

WASHINGTON—This column is a free offering to the social historian who will try at some future date to interpret the time in which we live. While the scope of the picture is small, it may throw a pinpoint of light on cause and effect in a larger scale.

In our neighborhood is a market to which farm women come twice a week, bringing every sort of good thing. On these rare October mornings, it looks especially rich and fine. Besides the dressed chickens, the rolls of country butter, the fruits and vegetables of the harvest season, there are late flowers—cosmos and chrysanthemums.

The place is filled with a bustle and stir as city people move up and down the aisles, the women with that early-morning predatory look, the males slightly abashed, realizing they really do not belong.

Farm Woman: Well, I hear you've been away. How're things over in Europe?

Reporter: They're a little better, I think. I didn't see very much or stay very long.

Farm Woman: They certainly haven't been getting any better over here.

Reporter: So everybody seems to think. Can you let us have some eggs today?

Farm Woman: Yes, I've got some eggs today. They're 80 cents a dozen now. High? Yes, of course it's high. But then, so is the price of everything we have to buy. Eggs have gone up 25 cents since the last time you were here.

The little group around the counter takes up this theme. One woman says that she heard from her sister in Iowa that eggs were 90 cents a dozen out there.

"I asked my husband the other night—we've been married 20 years," she says, "if he could ever remember when things cost more, and he thought he could remember when eggs cost 31 a dozen. That was back in 1928."

It was a long time ago, we agree. And 1928 was a year of some importance. It was the year when the boom of the '20s reached its crest, just before the wave toppled and fell.

From eggs, the conversation goes to chickens. The farm woman at the next counter has a large baking hen and some medium-sized stewers. The baking hen will run to about $5 or maybe a little more. "Why, we used to get a turkey for that," says the customer, with surprise and indignation in her voice.

But the farm woman reminds her that that, too, was a long time ago, long before the war. She tells how a friend went into a chain store to buy a frying chicken, a small skinny one, and it was 95 cents a pound.

You can hear that same conversation a thousand times over in every corner of the United States. We are discovering what inflation means when it gets down to the corner-grocery level.

The prosperous middle and upper-income groups are perhaps buying as freely as they did six months to a year ago. But the important question is what will happen to the purchasing power of the great mass of Americans at the lowest income level.

The social historian will have his statistics, his charts and his graphs. But he will learn just as much if he listens in on the conversation when city and country meet as buyer and seller.

Farmer's Diary: "Pleasant Thoughts."

THERE is always something new to make life interesting. A challenge—a love song—a soft south wind bearing fragrance of ripening fruit—the flutelike note of a bird—a baby's first tooth—mellow apples in dewy grass—the rhythm of rolling hills.

A young friend came to me. "I've discovered something about myself," he ejaculated, "and it doesn't seem possible. Maybe if I tell you about it . . ."

"Go ahead," I said.

"Yesterday I wasn't happy. I was brooding over a circumstance that had hurt my feelings. I was bitter, revengeful—went around a-rassling' with myself . . . life was dull and uninteresting.

"This morning something very happy occurred. I heard good news over the radio before I was out of bed. Besides, I'd already determined to see the brighter side. It was a glorious sunrise. The sky was a cheerful blue even as the stars faded out. I could smell the leafy mould from a fencerow as I went to get my bus . . . by cupping my hands around my ears, I could even hear thousands of faint insect voices in the grass. My senses seemed keener than common . . . my eyes saw wonderful surprises in even the commonest things. Even beyond human vision, I felt the presence of a strange reality that drew me to nobler thinking . . . I can't explain it to you, but it seemed a current was turned on. My sense of touch was even delightful to me, when I ran my fingers over the cool heavy bloom of a bull-thistle . . . my little boy came and put his hand in mine, and I knew just how he felt."

"You were much alive," I said.

"That's it. And it was the result of the pleasant thinking," he declared, in dead earnest. "Pleasant thoughts produce a frame of mind that gives alertness to my senses. Without the rise of thought, such responses would be impossible. When a man is full of hate and revenge, he is not really alive to the beauty of an infinite creation . . . I never realized . . . creation . . . I never realized . . ."

"As a man thinketh in his heart . . ." I murmured. "Thank you for what you have told me," and I gave his arm a squeeze as I walked on.

Visiting Nurses Invite Wider Use of Services

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of interviews with active workers in organizations and agencies which are aided by the Mansfield Community Fund.)

"Not enough people are taking advantage of the services afforded by the Visiting Nurses," asserts Mrs. Robert B. Black, president of the nurses' association.

"Hospital facilities are still strained to the limit, which means that many of the less serious cases could be handled by daily visits by the nurses."

Despite the decline of calls in the past five years, the association still employs two full-time nurses on duty from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. While summons for such home services may be slackening, Mrs. Black feels that the need is still prevalent.

"The $1.50 fee per visit is not mandatory," Mrs. Black explained. "Those who can, pay. For those who cannot pay, the service is without charge. Service without charge, however, is not to be considered charity, but a public service."

MRS. ROBERT B. BLACK

All regular nursing is done under the family doctor's orders as often as the condition requires and is made available to all residents of Mansfield and Madison township.

Nurses are on duty every day except Sundays and holidays when calls are made in emergency only. On such occasions the nurses may be reached at the Mansfield General hospital, Mrs. Black said.

Dorothy Kilgallen—

Broadway Bulletin Board—The Claire Trevor-John Shelton "romance" did a nosedive over the weekend, with Claire emphasizing that there was never anything to it, really. . . . Col. Charles Lindbergh will be back in the public eye again soon via political stumping. . . . Princess Elizabeth's latest rumored romance is Prince Fleming of Denmark. . . . More and more it looks like a reconciliation for Linda "Amber" Darnell and Pev. Marley. The gent who precipitated the break-up is definitely out of the picture. . . . Breaking the Ku Klux Klan is now No. 1 on the FBI agenda. . . . Joe DiMaggio's court troubles with his ex, Dorothy Arnold, aren't over. There'll be litigation over custody of the little boy. . . . Jersey politicians feel sure Frank Hague will retire from politics after the elections. They're in a turmoil over a successor.

A name bandleader—and for so many years!—last week batted his former vocalist into the hospital. Cupid trouble. . . . Officials of the 20th Century-Fox have issued an ultimatum to June Haver—pulease stop smoking cigars in public! . . . Tickets to the premiere of "The Iceman Cometh" (described by reviewers as "the most controversial play in 50 years") are being doled out by scalpers at $50 a pair. . . . Ella Raines' next groom will be Maj. Robin Olds, ex-West Point grid star. His father was a U. S. general. They'll waltz down the aisle as soon as her decree—from another major—becomes final.

Tony Martin's choice for his first Gotham date was Pat Donnelly, former Miss America. . . . Incidentally, the Tony Martin-Foote, Cone and Belding rumpus will reach the courts. Tony claims he had a 26-week verbal agreement; the agency says a 13-week written contract. . . . Toots Shor and Oscar Levant now cross streets so they won't have to speak. . . . Intimates say Billy Conn is the second wealthiest lad in the fight business—first being Gene Tunney, of course. Bill had lots of irons in the fire throughout the war, especially in his native Pittsburgh. . . . Don't be surprised if President Truman again reverses himself and okays the third atom bomb test for the army and navy in the spring. . . . If you want to know what New York suckers do with their money after dark, here's an item for you: ham and eggs, at a Manhattan after-hours' spot, costs $4.50. . . . Some of the networks are banning the Hildegarde-Buddy Clarke recording as too naughty.

Marshall Hall, who used to dance at the Met, has formed a Carnegie Hall school, called "Bodycraft," and alleges that Margaret Truman, the president's daughter, will be one of his first pupils . . . Carol Landis has switched to a new hair shade. She's now golden brown, not blonde.

Warner Brothers are planning to raise admission prices in all their theaters from coast to coast. They've already done it in the Washington, D. C., area. . . . Isn't Branch Rickey, very sotto voce, getting options on land near the Brooklyn Bridge to build a stadium in 1950? . . . The temperature drops to zero when Paulette Goddard and Merle Oberon meet. Merle wouldn't let her husband do the camera work on Paulette's next film

Barclay on Bridge

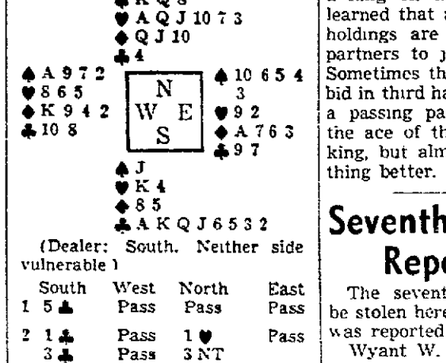
By SHEPARD BARCLAY

A HIGH original suit bid blocks everybody from a good chance to show what he has of value in his hand. It obstructs your own partner just as much as it obstructs your opponents. Consequently, it is undesirable to make such a bid except when the impeding of the opposition can benefit you more than the impeding of your partner can harm you. Ordinarily that situation exists only if your hand is worthless on the defense.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 5♣ | Pass | Pass | Pass |
| 2 1♣ | Pass | 1♥ | Pass |
| 3♣ | Pass | 3 NT | |

The first sequence above—if you want to call a single bid a sequence—is what actually occurred on this rubber bridge hand. The second sequence is what might have occurred if South had been a sounder bidder. Or North might have rebid hearts, and a heart game would have resulted

There was no way to keep South from getting set at his 5-Clubs, as the defenders won the spade A, diamond A and diamond K before South could untrack himself

"What a terrible bid!" exclaimed North as he saw one-by-one the cards of South's hand. "We had a laydown for ten tricks at either No Trumps or hearts You should have started with one, as your hand was good for a sure eight tricks at No Trumps if I could stop the other suits before the defense had five tricks"

It was a terrible bid. Most fine players will not make a preemptive call of three or more nowadays unless their hand is worthless on the defense, with no ace in the hand, not even in the long suit, and with nothing as good as a king on the side They have learned that any better high card holdings are too useful to their partners to justify starting high. Sometimes they will make such a bid in third hand position, opposite a passing partner, when holding the ace of their suit or one side king, but almost never with anything better.

Seventh Beagle Reported Stolen

The seventh Beagle hound to be stolen here in less than a week was reported to police yesterday.

Wyant W. Styverson 258 Park avenue east, told police that thieves "broke open" the collar of his brown and white male hound in order to steal him.

Similar thefts have been reported by Helen avenue and East Sixth street residents. Frank Adams, 211 Helen avenue, lost five Beagle pups to the dog-nappers.

THE REASONS BEHIND OUR REQUEST

NO MORE Changing to Gas Heat from Other Fuels This Season!

The unprecedented requests for changing to gas heat threaten to tax our transmission and distribution systems beyond the limits of good service. This comes at a time when it is impossible to secure the pipe, fittings and compressors necessary to handle the overwhelming demand.

WHY THE GREAT SWING TO GAS HEAT?

For years gas has been sold as a heating fuel of luxury value. Numerous tangibles, other than fuel cost, were included in its value to win public acceptance. Now the rise in price of other fuels makes gas heat the most economical today on a straight fuel cost basis in nearly all areas in this general part of the country. Also, many customers tell us that the uncertainty of supply of other fuels has affected their decisions to change to gas heat.

MATERIAL AND LABOR SHORTAGE

You who have been trying to buy an automobile, soap chips, white shirts or other scarce items readily will understand our position. We are trying to spend some 25 million dollars to improve the facilities for bringing gas from the abundant fields of supply to your premises. Because of the dire shortage of necessary materials and skilled manpower to install them, only a fraction of this 25 million can be spent this year.

TEXAS GAS

The Tennessee Gas Transmission Corporation, which owns a line bringing a large percentage of our gas from Texas fields, have plans for adding to the capacity of their system for several hundred miles. When completed this will increase substantially the amounts of gas they can deliver to us. By the time this project had run the necessary gamut of federal hearings and approval secured, it was too late to obtain materials to bolster our supply until the coming heating season is far advanced.

From the Panhandle and Eastern Pipeline Company, another western gas supply, we have been able to contract only half the gas we requested for regular delivery. The situation is not likely to improve until their facilities can be increased.

NEW SUPPLY FOR EXTREME WEATHER

At two key points on our lines we are installing a total of 110 tanks of 30,000 gallons each which will be filled with propane (liquid petroleum gas of a type commonly used by families living beyond gas lines in rural areas) which will blend with our gas. The project will make available the equivalent of 65 million cubic feet of gas a day. This supply is intended for use only in extreme weather. It will exhaust itself in a few days of use and our suppliers will require months to refill the tanks.

A new, large compressor station near the Ohio river intended to bolster the supply of gas to our transmission system can be but partially completed this winter. A large trunk line to run north and south through the heart of Ohio can be no more than 25 percent completed this season. Some of the orders for pipe placed last year are not promised until 1947.

SOME NEIGHBORHOOD LINES OVERLOADED

A survey just completed has disclosed that more gas heating installations have been made in some areas than the capacity of our street mains can serve adequately. Only major unsurmountable problems are mentioned here. There are many, many lesser ones.

HEATING CONTRACTORS AND DEALERS COOPERATING

These reasons have prompted the decision to discontinue the sale of gas heating equipment to those having other forms of heating, at least for the coming season. Responsible heating contractors and dealers are cooperating by adopting this plan. The plan has been cleared with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Customers, who now have bona fide orders for gas heating equipment on file with us or with heating contractors filing with The Gas Company, will be protected under this new policy. The reason for this is because such persons have lost their place in line for re-ordering the fuel they have been using.

INDUSTRIAL CURTAILMENTS LIKELY

This winter, during periods of severe weather, it most likely will be necessary to curtail industries using gas in their manufacturing processes. All large users of gas for industry have been notified of this possible condition, thus giving them time to make other provisions. Even with this relief, it is possible that some areas will experience low gas pressures if outside temperatures become too low.

PROTECTION FOR G. I. HOUSING

We have a dual obligation to G. I. veterans and the Civilian Production Administration. With both, we intend to cooperate fully by making gas service available to permanent new construction. Through this conservation program, installation materials and resources can be made available for new buildings.

DON'T BE MISLED

By giving you and our other customers reasons for this immediate action, we hope to have the same support from you that heating contractors have promised. Let no one persuade you that the facts are other than here stated. The delay in converting your present heating system to gas until a more favorable time is the best protection of service to your community.

"I dunno," shrugged the picket. "You've had me on strike so long I forget whatinell I used to do!"

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—If there were any excuse for believing that they were honest in their remarks about Palestine and the immigration of more refugees into the United States, President Truman and Governor Dewey might be forgiven their competitive political appeals to religious—or racial—feeling in the current campaign. However, both are obviously moved only by consideration for the Jewish vote in New York.

There was no occasion for Truman's statement other than the political purpose of rubbing some of the fuzz off Dewey's peach two nights later. Dewey also lacked an occasion, except the political opportunity.

In 1942, Dewey practically read Ham Fish out of the Republican party for a politically stupid but morally honest admission of the fact that there was such a factor as the Jewish vote. Every politician knows there is such a thing and both Truman and Dewey in the present case are angling for it by deliberate and venal misrepresentation of the facts and issues. As politicans they hope to seduce Jewish voters with promises that they know they have no authority to make and know they can't fulfill.

"It must be clearly demonstrated," Dewey said, "that the United States reaffirms its policy that the pledges to the Jewish people must be fulfilled."

* * *

WHAT PLEDGES? When were the American people ever consulted in any election on this issue, discussed apart from all other issues or even as a major problem? Nobody can say the platform planks on Palestine put the question squarely to the people because they were never argued so as to bring out their meanings and elicit a conscious decision.

What Jewish people? Throughout the Hitler regime Americans heard, and agreed, that Jews were Americans, Germans, Britons, French and so forth we heard, and agreed, that Jewishness was a matter of religion, not race and that Hitler's proposition to the contrary was diabolical. Now the same authorities demand a new nation for Jews who are Germans, Poles or Romanians or even Americans. And the same authorities also argue that persons of no religion or atheists are nevertheless Jews by some test that seems to indorse Hitler's racism. By what other test is a person with no religion to be deemed a Jew?

The United States had secretly admitted 580,000 displaced persons, formerly called refugees, by 1942 and some vast but unrevealed number have come here since then. Still, Truman, Dewey and recently Mayor O'Dwyer, of New York, demand that we modify our laws so as to admit "our share" of additional immigrants, but all without telling us how many have been admitted or what "our share" is.

Inviting 250,000 more to New York, O'Dwyer said: "If anyone says there isn't plenty of room here, I'll show him where it is within 100 miles."

* * *

BUT IF O'DWYER can find living quarters for 250,000 more population within 100 miles of New York, he is holding out on hundreds of thousands of native Americans now living in dirty old fire-traps and ratty converted barracks, raising babies in frightening squalor and, incidentally, with little food and less soap. The truth is that he knows of no such habitations unless he is thinking of more barracks. But in that case these 250,000 new immigrants, within one year, would be howling about segregation in "detention camps" like the experimental 1,000 who went to Oswego and yelled persecution until we turned them loose, just as they expected from the start.

O'Dwyer was just talking for votes. So are Truman and Dewey.

The terrible fault here is that they are all trying to chisel a political advantage by telling lies, smothering facts and putting in the category of Hitlerites all who insist on analyzing their statements and false promises. That kind of campaigning never solves problems and always stores up trouble to break in storms later on.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON—(UP)—How, I ask you, was the war assets administration to know its surplus life lifts were loaded with morphine?

And that dope peddlers across America were buying the rafts—which had been advertised in practically every big newspaper—for the drugs in the medicine kits?

Wow! Only let us not be too hard on the poor devils at war assets. They're trying to auction off $32,000,000,000 worth of stuff left over from the war and every time there's a slipup, congress snarls at 'em.

Take this business about the government, itself, functioning by mistake as a wholesaler of morphine. Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger thought he'd just about stamped out the whole illicit drug business.

He wasn't resting on his oars, mind you, but he was hopeful that his job would ease up. Came then disquieting reports of fresh supplies of morphine reaching the drug runners. You can bet Anslinger's agents investigated. And quick.

* * *

YEP, SOMEBODY forgot that those life rafts, hundreds upon hundreds of them, carried syrettes of morphine, worth no telling how many millions of dollars to the dope trade.

The Army and the Navy reported that the drug kits were in secret lockers aboard the rafts, so that troops couldn't get into them. Only a few chosen leaders aboard each transport even knew there were any medical supplies on the rafts.

The big brass said furthermore that it had ordered the drugs cleaned out of the rafts before they were turned over to WAA. The surplus property boys didn't know there were drugs aboard; said they didn't even know there ever had been any.

All they knew, they said blushingly when they received Anslinger's first blast, was that somebody left the morphine in the lockers, six syrettes of the pure stuff in each raft. Anslinger said he wasn't kidding. He said trace the dope already sold to the boat lovers; get it off the rafts that still were for sale.

The involuntary dope peddlers at war assets moaned. They investigated the sales of every life raft. In most cases they got back their morphine. Anslinger and his agents helped.

* * *

GETTING MORPHINE off the remaining rafts was something else again. The experts said there were so many piled on so many docks that it would take 100 men 90 days to do the job. So be it.

An embargo went on, while the workers dusted out the life rafts. They're still at work. The rafts will go on sale later, without morphine. The dope will be returned to the medical stores and all's well, I guess, that ends well. Anslinger, at least, has reached the stage where he can chuckle about it. The government's out of the dope trade with no particular damage done.

That's not all; only I've run out of space. Join me tomorrow for a look at the government's surplus whisky. Maybe you've got an idea about what to do with a few thousand jugs of pre-war, bonded Bourbon. The government hasn't.

WATER PROJECT ADDED COSTS ARE EXPLAINED

Engineer Tells Kiwanis Club Why City Reservoir Will Cost More.

Main causes for the increase in cost of the Lexington dam and lake project from its original estimated cost of $210,000 to the contracted price of $425,000, were pointed out and explained to Kiwanis club members yesterday by Harry F. Smith, consulting engineer for the city on the dam project.

Speaking before members and guests at the club's regular noon luncheon in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Smith said that the "principal increases in cost were due to the necessity of meeting requirements of two government agencies, and to the increases in the price of land and materials in this inflationary period."

The two government agencies referred to were the Muskingum Valley Watershed Conservancy district, and the Ohio Valley authority. Both insisted on changes in the original plans for the dam, fearing possible damage to sites already built if the Clear Fork project should not prove strong enough to carry a maximum rainfall, it was explained.

In support of the site, its size and cost, Smith cited figures from a report made in 1936 by the Cleveland consulting engineering firm of George B. Gascoigne & Associates. The report approved the Clear Fork project "as the most desirable and practical source of water supply for the area."

The cost of the project with a storage reservoir of 300 million gallons of water in 1936 was estimated at $589,000, Smith pointed out. The present project, which would have a reservoir of some four billion 400 million gallons of storage, will cost only about $425,000, a lesser price for about 15 times as much water storage.

The need for increased water storage facilities was indicated by Smith with figures which showed that Mansfield had experienced a 41 per cent rate of increase of water use in the past seven years, whereas the normal increase should have been only seven per cent.

"Water is always the determining factor in the growth of cities, as well as of the growth of population," Smith concluded.

Prior to Smith's talk, the Kiwanis club officers and directors for 1947, as well as delegates to the 29th annual Kiwanis convention to be held at Columbus, beginning Oct. 15th, were announced.

Officers elected for 1947 were: Stanleigh Vinson, president; Bert Earnshaw, first vice president; Charles Spreng, second vice president, and Carlton S. Fernyak, elected secretary-treasurer for the twenty-first consecutive time.

Directors named were: William L. Althouse, Willis F. Carto, Carl Damron, W. B. Ford, Frank Polling, John H. Stevens and Sherman Wentz. Carrying over as directors were: Charles Spreng, Bert Earnshaw, Paul F. Eliot, Tom Ford, Blaine Johnson, Dwight P. Smith, Marion Ward and Carl Weikert.

Delegates named to attend the convention were: Vinson, Poling and W. B. Ford, with Tom Ford, Spreng and George Smith as alternates.

VET HOUSING PLAN DELAYED

Fair Board Awaits Quorum to Make Decision.

Lacking a majority of its members, the county fair board yesterday told the county commissioners it would meet later to form a decision on using the fairgrounds as a site for an emergency veterans' housing project site.

The commissioners, who have $64,149 in state funds to aid on financing a housing project, had asked the fair board if they could use several acres of the fairgrounds property but only three members of the fair board attended.

Commissioner John W. Selby said that the east part of the fairgrounds, accessible to two streets, would make a good site for the housing units.

Meeting with the commissioners were C. S. Henry, president of the fair board, and Clarence Tugend and H. H. Wolfe, members of the board.

Tugend said no official action could be taken by the fair board until a quorum of its members could meet. He said he thought such a meeting would be held some time next week.

Contract Let For Ash Trucks

The board of control has accepted the bid of the Brandenburg Chevrolet company, Park avenue east, to provide the city with two $1,620 ash trucks within eight weeks.

The trucks are to be one-and-a-half ton models with a capacity of three cubic yards. The company's bid was second lowest but it set the shortest delivery time.

G. L. Rogers' bid on a one-ton truck was low but he set no delivery date.

Consideration of two bids to provide garbage trucks is pending. Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said.

Junior Red Cross Sponsors To Meet

The fall meeting for teacher sponsors of the Junior Red Cross program in city schools has been called for Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. in the chapter house, Mrs. Ephraim Brown, chairman of the Junior Red Cross committee, announced today.

It is expected that between 25 and 30 teachers will be present to discuss Junior Red Cross problems and the formation of a Junior Red Cross council of school children. The report of the glasses' committee will be given.

Money Transfers In City Set Record for Quarter

Money transfers by check and withdrawals from savings accounts here during September dropped slightly below August's all-time monthly high but still enabled the city to set an all-time quarterly record of $90,200,000.

Money transfers and withdrawals last month totaled $29,972,000 as compared to $30,837,000 in August.

But the monthly total still was a 31 per cent increase over the volume of money movement recorded in September, 1945, and last year's third quarterly total, ended with September.

The per centage gains of both monthly and quarterly totals topped the increases made by nine other smaller banking centers in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky. The monthly figure was bettered by nine smaller banking centers and the quarterly figure by 12 centers.

Up and Down The Street

FLIES TO GEORGIA—

Before sunup today, R. J. Alander, general manager of The News-Journal, drove to Columbus to board an airliner for Columbus, Ga., where tomorrow he will serve as master of ceremonies for that city's first annual "Hi Neighbor" celebration. Alander was invited to serve as "M.C." by the Columbus Retail Merchants' association and the Chamber of Commerce as the result of the work he put into a series of weekly "Hi Neighbor" days held there througout the summer. Alander came to The News-Journal recently from Columbus, Ga., where he was advertising director of the Ledger-Enquirer newspapers.

HELPED HIM TO FAME—

Cliff Hall, tap dancing star whose picture appeared in Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" in Thursday's News-Journal, is well known to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, 310 Lexington avenue.

The Thompsons lived next door to Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hall, at Byesville 30 years ago. Through their encouragement and efforts, Hall's parents were persuaded to take 11-month-old Cliff, born with club feet, to a bone specialist in Columbus. After four or five operations, Cliff regained normal use of his feet after, as stated by Ripley, the specialist removed both ankles and replaced them with calf's ankles. Today Cliff Hall is dancing his way to fame.

"Cliff's mother took in sewing to help pay the doctor's bills," Mrs. Thompson relates. "It gives us a great deal of satisfaction to hear of Cliff being able to dance. We feel that but for our efforts, he might never have been able to walk properly."

VIOLINISTS HIT, TOO—

A set of German violin strings, bought in the occupied zone for three packs of cigarets by a Mansfield violinist, George Porterfield, provided food for thought at the E. D. Gibson home, 282 West Fourth street last night. "The strings are not up to the usual products put out by the country," Mrs. Gibson said today. One of the best known violinists and teachers of violin in the city, Mrs. Gibson said that the G string, made of gut, was rough and lacked craftsmanship while the American G string is fine and smooth. The German E string, possibly made before the war, was of very fine steel, and an original Bernhardt.

"The meat shortage is also hitting the violin string manufacturers," Mrs. Gibson continued. "A shortage of meat means a shortage of gut and the situation is fast becoming critical."

A total of 468 veterans, 16 servicemen, 140 families of veterans and servicemen, and 92 others visited or called the office in search of assistance or information.

GOOD WEATHER HELPS BOOST CROP OUTPUT

Experts Revise Estimates of Sept. 1 Upward After October Survey.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The meat-hungry American public was assured today that the vegetarian part of their diet in the coming months will be the best in the nation's history.

A department of agriculture crop report, revised to Oct. 1, declares that the 1946 harvest is well on the way toward breaking all records.

The report states that the record 1946 corn crop is maturing with little frost damage, and good quality is assured. Corn production is estimated at 3,374,428,000 bushels, an increase of better than 350 million bushels over last year.

Most of the biggest wheat crop in history already is safely under cover. Production is indicated at 1,169,422,000 bushels, forty-six million above the previous all-time record achieved last year.

Potatoes also moved into the all-time record bracket with an indicated crop of 471,146,000 bushels, exceeding the previous record, set in 1943, by better than six million bushels.

Other record crops are tobacco, peaches, pears, plums and truck crops.

The report also reveals:

Oats, rice and peanuts will come very near to previous production records.

Average or better crops are promised for hay, soybeans, dry peas, prunes, apricots, hops, sugar beets, flaxseed, sorghum grain, buckwheat, sweet potatoes and apples.

Cotton production prospects dropped to the lowest level in 25 years.

Rye, broomcorn, dry beans and pecans were below-average.

The oil crops—soybeans, flaxseed, peanuts and cottonseed—remained at a lower level than last year.

Estimates Too Low.

In many cases the department revised Sept. 1 estimates upward, pointing out that September weather was favorable for the development of most late crops.

Total feed grain production for the year was estimated at 127.5 million tons. Grain for food production of grain for food was set at 37.4 million tons. Both totals top any previous record.

Sugar crop prospects continued high, though sugar beets declined slightly.

Milk production was down slightly, but production per cow set new all-time records.

Record high are expected in both deciduous and citrus fruits. Abundant fresh vegetable supplies are in prospect as fall truck crop harvests exceed any previous year. Late vegetables for processing also promise to be plentiful.

More Jobs for Handicapped Pledged by Plant Officials

A pledge of continued action in an effort to better Mansfield's outstanding record in placing handicapped persons at work was made by some 20 personnel managers representing Mansfield's industries Wednesday.

The pledge came at the conclusion of a talk given by Wendell Edgerly, acting administrator of the Veterans Employment Service for Ohio, and a statement by the Veterans Administration of Mansfield that led all other areas in Ohio in finding suitable jobs for handicapped persons.

Edgerly reminded the personnel managers that with labor threatening to become as tight as it was during the war they should not forget the source that had served them so well during the war—the handicapped worker.

Cites War Records.

The war time records of plants employing handicapped persons that their attendance was better, their turnover less and their production higher than was that of able bodied workers, Edgerly pointed out.

"Think in terms of a qualified individual to be employed on the basis of matching the physical requirements of a particular job to the physical and mental possibilities of the individual," Edgerly advised.

"We don't want a negative, charitable approach to this problem," he continued, "but a positive one which recognizes the fact that a man who served his country has a right to expect a job to supplant his pension and enable him to earn some of the luxuries of life."

Load to Be Heavier.

It was emphasized at the meeting that while the response of Mansfield toward placing the handicapped had been good, the load would be heavier in the future, and continued efforts would be required.

The Mansfield offices of the USES and VA agreed periodically to prepare lists of handicapped persons needing placement. The list would be submitted to the personnel managers for action.

Westinghouse Manufacturing was host to the group and Frank Berkey of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber was program chairman.

$25,000 Asked For Explosion of Hair Tinter

Charles Yarman and his wife, Laura, of 453 Wood street, had on file in Richland county common pleas court today two actions asking judgment of $30,000 from the Independent Beauty and Barber Supply company of 39 East Fourth street.

Laura Yarman asked $25,000 for injuries suffered, she said, when a bottle of hair tinting chemical, purchased from the defendant, exploded in her hand and cut her about the face and left eye.

She said the accident on Oct 21, 1944, has left the vision of her eye permanently impaired.

Charles Yarman asks $5,000 for medical expenses resulting from his wife's injuries.

His action asserts that his wife has been unable to perform her household duties and that he has been deprived of her companionship, affection and assistance for several years to come.

DRAFT DROPS

November Call For Men Set at 15,000.

WASHINGTON—(ANS)—The November draft call was revealed today to be set at fifteen thousand, the smallest since the July-August "holiday."

Officials explained that this reduced call is in line with the army's policy of asking for only enough draftees to fill the gap between voluntary enlistments and total manpower needs

Response to the army's campaign for "guardians of victory" was so favorable in September that a slump of 20,000 calls under the number of men inducted this month was made possible for November.

'Triple Play' Program Heard By Lions Club

Lions club members were treated to a "triple play" at their dinner in the Mansfield-Leland hotel Wednesday night. They heard taree speakers, Harry Mehock, athletic director of Mansfield schools, Fred Staub, high school faculty athletic director, and Bruce Rogers, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The program was in a strictly "recreational vein." Mehock talked on the new stadium which, when completed, will seat 25,000.

Staub related the intricacies of the behind the scenes moments necessary to put on athletic contests, telling of arrangements for transportation, hiring of officials, and other details.

Rogers spoke on behalf of the proposed two-tenth of a mill recreational levy by which it is hoped to raise $12,000 a year for a period of five years to provide for additional recreational direction.

Dr. Paul Maxwell was program chairman.
